

Cookie Policy

At E.T.E. Group, customer safety is a prime concern, and we are aware that the exchange of data between users and the Internet requires maximum security for the information collected. Cookies make customer access faster and more effective. All information provided is treated confidentially and in accordance with all data protection laws. The E.T.E. Group is committed to the privacy of all information collected.

What are cookies?

Cookies are text strings archived in a specific file and included in Hypertext Transfer Protocol (HTTP) requests and responses. They allow status information to be logged while browsing and when returning to a particular website, thus maintaining HTTP sessions.

Why are cookies used?

- They allow the website to function more quickly and effectively;
- They improve security when using a restricted access area;
- They help collect information that can best serve your interests;
- They collect statistical information to improve our relationship with customers and products.

Benefits for the customer or user:

- Improved security;
- Avoid previously answered questions or previously viewed information.

Some drawbacks:

- Some cookies may be installed on the user's browser for some time;
- Some cookies may monitor the user's path through the company's website.

What kind of cookies does the E.T.E. Group use?

- Essential - mandatory for the proper functioning of the website
- Non-intrusive - used to observe the user, but does not provide any personal information (Google Analytics).
